

The Rainbow in Glenfarne

At a beautiful ballroom On a lovely Leitrim road
I parked outside the front door, And stopped to say "Hello
To an old man who was standing there Who with a handshake warm Said
Welcome to the Rainbow, The Rainbow in Glenfarne

Chorus

You're welcome to The Rainbow, The Rainbow in Glenfarne, The Ballroom of Romance Where song and dance was born
So many couples fell in love In each other's arms
Dancing in The Rainbow The Rainbow in Glenfarne

I said my friend please tell me For I'm a stranger here,
I bet you've many stories That I would love to hear
He said "Come on in and I'll be glad To take you back in time
And tell you „bout those dancehall days When I was in my prime

Chorus

Dancing at The Rainbow, The Rainbow in Glenfarne,
People came from miles around To see the bands perform
Big Tom and Philomena Made summer nights so warm
And Larry's "Lovely Leitrim" Graced The Rainbow in Glenfarne

Just step up on that stage, young man Imagine you're the star
See those chairs along the wall And the good old mineral bar
Then close your eyes and visualise A thousand, maybe more
Happy, shining faces Dancing on that maple floor

Chorus

Dancing at The Rainbow, The Rainbow in Glenfarne,
People came from miles around To see the bands perform
It's where I met my Mary And held here in my arms
Dancing at The Rainbow, The Rainbow in Glenfarne

As I left the old dancehall That's known throughout the land
I made a promise to return And play there with my band
So many years of history, Music, Song and Dance,
God be with the good old days In The Ballroom of Romance

Chorus

Dancing in The Rainbow, The Rainbow in Glenfarne,
The Ballroom of Romance, Where Song and Dance were born
So many found there pot o' gold In each other's arms
Dancing in The Rainbow, The Rainbow in Glenfarne
Dancing in The Rainbow, The Rainbow in Glenfarne
