

Sentimental Irish

Were you ever alone with an aching heart across the other ocean?
Or go back home just one more time to where you grandma came from
If your children feel the love you share and it fills your heart with pride
Then you are sentimental Irish deep inside

If you're holding on to some sweet dream instead of letting go
If your thoughts are filled of memories of times so long ago
If you love each blade of grass so green from cork to Dunadee
Then you are sentimental Irish just like me

Chorus :

You are sentimental Irish with your heart upon your sleeve
Nothing in this world will ever change the way you feel
If you shed a tear drop now and no one else can see
Then you are sentimental Irish just like me

Do you still recall your mother's words from when you were child
Sometimes in a crowded room you see your fathers smile
And you would give just anything to share this memory
Then you are sentimental Irish just like me

Solo

You are sentimental Irish with your heart upon your sleeve
Nothing in this world will ever change the way you feel
If you shed a tear drop now and no one else can see
Then you are sentimental Irish sentimental Irish
You are sentimental Irish just like me

Yes you are, sentimental Irish just like me
