

The Lucky Horse Shoe

He walked into the blacksmiths forge
A well dressed man his name was george
He said good morning smithy just the man i wanna see
My daughters pony threw a shoe
I was advised to come to you
And if you could replace it id gladly pay your fee

His daughter brought the pony in
The blacksmiths eyes could not take in
The beauty of the lady standing by the door
And when she smiled and said "hello"
Deep in his heart he felt a glow
From that day on the blacksmiths life was changed forever more

Chorus :

Her daddy was a wealthy man
Owned many achres of fine land
A twenty two room mansion with a panoramic view
I've heard it say that love is blind
He couldn't change his daughters mind
She fell in love with the black smith who made her pony shoe

On the day that they were married
She rode in a horse strong carriage
With four high steppin ponies
Two were black and two were grey
With seats of satin lining
And buckles that were shining
But they couldn't match her beauty on her wedding day

Well now you've heard the story of the blacksmith and the lady
Some may think its fiction some may think its true
But i've never been to a wedding yet
Among the gifts the bride will get
Someone will always give her a lucky old horse shoe

Chorus X 2

I've heard it say that love is blind
He couldn't change his daughters mind
She fell in love with the black smith who made her pony shoe
