

Things Are Changing Fast

Oh I remember well, the years gone by and the changes they have brought I've lived right here in the Emerald Isle since I was just a tot
And Declan's da on his pony trap on Sunday he'd be seen
The pony trap's now out of date, they've got their limousine.

Do you remember the good old days, forever'll be our past
They'll never be the same again, 'cause things are changing fast.

We still recall the winter nights, and the cottages so bright
It wasn't from the electric scheme, t'was the good ol' candle light
And the celli in the country home with the fiddler in the stand
But that would never do today; it's a five or a six piece band.

Do you remember the good old days, forever'll be our past
They'll never be the same again, 'cause things are changing fast.

The old back cart, the rocking chair and them made for two
Memories of days gone by, today they are so few
Our present rate is rush and speed, and travel night and day
A foreign land is sent to hand, because things are here to stay.

Do you remember the good old days, forever'll be our past
They'll never be the same again, 'cause things are changing fast.

Instrumental & key change

The grass grows green, the shamrocks seen; the mountain stands to tall
You're always there beyond Clondare, you never changed at all
The things we knew, are still so true and will be to the end
I'd give this world and the years gone by if they'd be moved again

Do you remember the good old days, forever'll be our past
They'll never be the same again, 'cause things are changing fast.
Do you remember the good old days, forever'll be our past
They'll never be the same again, 'cause things are changing fast.
